Life and Relationship Coach Dylan Thrasher unleashes on the current "Relationship Crisis" hitting the nation and commits to providing the coaching necessary to reverse it.

San Diego, CA - Expert Life and Relationship Coach Dylan Thrasher is making new waves with this life-changing approaches to healing relationships. "Our society mocks healthy relationships," Mr. Thrasher said to a crowd recently. Between his personal coaching sessions, book writing and interviews, he speaks for groups and events aimed at healing relationships.

"People are a strange breed, behaving in ways that they know deep inside will hurt their future chances of happiness, out of fear, past hurts and negative peer influences," says the Life Coach / Relationship Coach. He says his mission stems partly from the frustration of seeing prior generations' dreams of love, marriage and family no longer even registering in the psyche of today's youth, growing up without any positive role models in situations where parents are typically divorced, and older siblings often bouncing around in casual relationships. "I wanted to spend time helping solve the problem, rather than complain about it endlessly," he says, "romance is not simply dead, it has been neglected and is not even being given a chance to breath."

Using a combination of his book, 'How to Find and Create Lasting Love,' along with intensive personal coaching sessions, Dylan Thrasher hopes to bring back virtue, honor, respect, commitment, passion, true happiness, and the feeling of having it all. "There is nothing, bar none, that gives one the strength, the courage, the capacity to achieve, the fulfillment, and the peace in your heart that real and genuine love does. I want to take away the barriers to love that people put up in front of themselves," he says.

His coaching sessions are priced affordably, and there is a free introductory session he is providing on his website, www.DylanThrasher.com, as well. He comes with a warning though, that being that he is not as (falsely) nice as other coaches, and employs a hardline, 'brutal truth' approach to moving people through the steps they need to get through as quickly as possible.

"Many dating/relationship/love coaches out there charge exorbitant fees in the thousands to take advantage of people in their darkest times," he says. "I have a different philosophy. I choose to help people in the most effective, practical and reasonable manner that is affordable. I will help you as a dating coach, relationship coach or a marriage coach, whatever your scenario may be, and aim to get you the relationship you want or out of the relationship you don't want, faster than anyone else."
